

Hands-On for Safety Competition

The Alberta Health Services EMS Cadets and High School First Responder Teams are a group of dedicated 14 to 18 year old students who have committed their time to learn about the Emergency Medical Services. This youth group provides first aid standby and pre-hospital care for local community events. The purpose is to learn and practice first aid skills and provide a free community service. Combined with the High School First Responders there are over 80 youth involved in the program and together have contributed over 10,000 hours of volunteer community service.
